

2010 Summer Institutes 3 weeks of intensive workshops Understanding by Design

July 2010 @ Lambertville, NJ, along the scenic Delaware River

Grant Wiggins invites you to four challenging and thought-provoking Summer Institutes in Understanding by Design. Designed for teachers and educational leaders eager to extend their understanding of this award-winning approach to curriculum design, these highly interactive workshops immerse you in the elements of UbD, the design process, and the strategies for moving the work forward in your classroom, school, or district.

July 13 - 15

UbD: Train the Trainers & Supervisors

Prepare to train and lead a UbD-based unit design initiative in schools, districts, or state and national reforms

July 19

UbD: Framing the Curriculum

Create an overarching framework for a UbD curriculum to ensure consistency, alignment, and a focus on understanding

July 20 - 21

UbD: Designing from Standards

Learn how to unpack state/provincial/national standards to address and assess what really matters

July 26 - 27

Schooling by Design: Purposeful Schooling

Design schooling backward from long-term learning goals and develop a plan for aligning mission, curriculum, and policies

Lovely Lambertville, NJ will once again serve as our home base for these Summer Institutes. Gaze over the Delaware River from the hotel conference room as you ponder the big ideas of UbD, then stroll the historic streets of Lambertville, enjoying shops, restaurants, and galleries into the evening. Cross the bridge into vibrant New Hope, PA for more entertainment, or drive to Princeton, only twenty minutes away.

Discounted hotel accommodations are available at the Inn at Lambertville Station, our site for the workshops. To reserve a room, call 609-397-4400 or visit www.lambertvillestation.com.

Register online for any Institute at www.authenticeducation.org.